TREASURY BACKS PLANS TO MOVE UNIVERSITY SITE

FINANCIAL GUARANTEE MOVES SCHEME A STEP CLOSER TO REALITY

The University of Northampton's plan to move to a new £330 million campus in the town centre moved a step closer to reality this week.

The Treasury announced that the scheme was in line to be guaranteed financially by the Government, meaning private lenders could be confident their money would be safe.

An outline planning application for the university's new £330m Waterside campus in the town centre was submitted to Northampton Council in September.

The proposed new campus on the 55-acre Nunn Mills site within the waterside Enterprise Zone will replace the university's existing sites in St George's Avenue and Boughton Green Road.

If approved, it is hoped groundwork on the site could start next year, with the campus opening in autumn 2018.

Chief Secretary to the Treasury, Danny Alexander, said the scheme was one of a number of energy, road and rail projects worth £33bn that have passed the first hurdle in getting a government infrastructure guarantee. Forty projects are now at the stage known as 'prequalification', meaning they are eligible for the UK Guarantee scheme.

While further discussions, assessment and due diligence remain, the move could see them secure Government agreement to act as a guarantor for a project, giving private lenders confidence they will get their money back if the project cannot pay.

If the Government gave a guarantee, it would be for a proportion of the capital value of the project.

The government has already awarded a £75m guarantee to power plant Drax for its £700m programme to partially convert the UK's biggest coal power station to biomass.

New accommodation blocks are already being built in Northampton town centre for students, and it is hoped the entire university will move nearby in 2018

£275 million shortfall in NHS county funding

A potential £275 million 'black hole' in spending on health and social care services in Northamptonshire has been identified by NHS Nene.

Dr Darin Seiger, who is in charge of the NHS Nene Clinical Commissioning Group, said the leaders of the county's health and social care services needed to take decisive action to make sure they remained financially viable.

Dr Seiger said a number of new, more efficient ways to care for people in Northamptonshire had been identified to help save money at a time when demand was higher than ever before.

Dr Seiger said: "If we do nothing then we have projected we could have a financial shortfall of £275 million by 2019.

"What we are doing now is trying to make decisions which help us to maintain the quality of the service we provide."

The main reasons for the potential funding shortfall are that people are living longer and the population is growing so quickly in the Northamptonshire area.

The programme of change to health and social care services in the county is known as Healthier Northamptonshire and is expected to be introduced by March 2014.

The key parts of the programme include using GP surgeries to help deliver some health care services for conditions, such as skin or eye problems and back pain, so patients do not necessarily have to go into hospital.

There will also be a focus

Dr Darin Seiger, chairman of the NHS Nene Clinical Commissioning Group who has announced that £275 million of savings need to be made by the NHS and county council in Northamptonshire by 2019.

on the frail and elderly to try to develop community services that may reduce the number of people who go into accident and emergency.

A statement, signed by Dr Seiger and Paul Blantern, chief executive of Northamptonshire County Council, stated that integration between GP practices, community and social services will help to care for the county's most vulnerable patients and provide care closer to home.

The programme involves the county council,

Organisation's five partners

- The new Healthier Northamptonshire programme will involve nine different 'workstreams', which will all have their own director and clinical leader.
- These leaders will come from each of the five partner organisations to try to ensure the programme is as integrated as possible.
- The Healthier Northamptonshire board, which features representatives from all partners, will update on the progress of the programme.
- The public will also be asked to put forward their views about potential changes as the programme is developed and implemented across the county.

Northampton and Kettering general hospitals, Nene and Corby NHS clinical commissioning groups, Northamptonshire Healthcare Foundation Trust and the NHS Local Area Team.

GPs will be used to treat A&E patients

GPs will help triage patients in Accident and Emergency at Northampton General Hospital to try to treat people more quickly.

Dr Darin Seiger, Chair of NHS Nene Clinical Commissioning Group, said the GPs would be able to treat patients more effectively as they had a wide experience and were able to prescribe medication straight away.

Dr Seiger also revealed that the NHS's 111 telephone system in the county was "performing well" and less than 10 per cent of callers were advised to go to accident and emergency.

He said that latest statistics showed calls were answered within 60 seconds and callers were being given appropriate advice.

Dr Seiger said there were no plans to merge Northampton and Kettering hospitals, but patients could expect to see more partnership working between the hospitals.

The main areas this will happen in are long-term and urgent care.

Are you in pain?

Chiropractors do not just treat back pain. Other conditions include:

Neck pain
Arm pain
Headaches
Migraines
Disc injuries
Hip & pelvic pain
Frozen shoulder
Knee pain
Muscle strain
Whiplash
Symptoms of arthritis
Sports injuries
Ankle & foot pain
And much more

What does treatment involve?

Using skilled manipulation and quick, comfortable adjustment techniques, with just the right amount of pressure, Chiropractors gently unlock the stiff joints to restore proper function and mobility. This in turn settles the pain. The vulnerable area is then stabilised with further treatments. When the pain and discomfort are reduced, the next step is to help you get active again. Rehabilitation and exercises are essential to speed up the body's natural healing process and strengthen muscles to prevent recurrence of the problem.

Vision of a new

Cobblers chairman looking forward to

FEATURE

Northampton Town fans can today get a first glimpse of how the redeveloped East Stand at Sixfields Stadium will look.

The new-look stand is set to feature 15 corporate boxes, space for 700 corporate guests, additional seating, new kiosks and a gym. There will also be a new supporters' bar, which can be used as an exhibition room during the week.

A planning application was submitted to Northampton Borough Council last week, and is expected to be considered by Guildhall officials before Christmas. Cobblers chairman David Cardoza said: "It is just really exciting to see all the talk turn into drawings, and we are really looking forward to starting building work."

"I think everyone is absolutely delighted. Everyone realises how much work has gone in to get us to this point. We are in the planning process now, and fingers crossed we can get the application through as soon as possible."

Council leader, Councillor David Mackintosh (Con, Rectory Farm) said: "The expansion of Sixfields Stadium and the development of the area around the ground will help the Cobblers to take full advantage of being located within our Enterprise Zone. "Increasingly the success of professional sports teams relies on having a strong business plan for their off-the-pitch activities."

"So I am delighted to see these plans coming forward and give our football club the solid foundation needed to build a strong team that can compete every match day."

The work on Sixfields Stadium is part of a wider scheme to build a hotel, gym and 300 homes on land around the ground. Cobblers chairman

Two artist's impressions of how the David Cardoza has called the plan "the biggest thing which has ever happened to the club".

February next year to be completed for the start of the 2014-15 season. The development has been made possible by a £12 million loan from Northampton Borough Council, which was agreed in July. A planning application for the hotel is expected next month, and a further application for the homes by Christmas or early January. The scheme will see the running track currently used by Rugby and Northampton Athletics Club built on. The club is set to move to a new stadium on the Moulton College campus, although it will be without a home for one season.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Northampton, Kettering, Wellingborough & Corby areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Cosworth to create 70 jobs at £30m site

By IAN GALLAGHER
Chronicle Reporter
ian.gallagher@northantsnews.co.uk

The co-founder of iconic engineering firm Cosworth has praised the company's plans to create 70 jobs at a £30 million 'centre of excellence'.

Mike Costin was speaking after an announcement last week, when Cosworth detailed plans to build the centre on its existing site in St James Mill Road, St James.

The centre will be used for engine assembly and the manufacture of engine components for the mainstream automotive sector, and will see an investment of between £25 million and £30 million.

The Chron understands Cosworth, which celebrates its 50th birthday next year, has entered into contracts with two as-yet unnamed firms.

As well as the 70 jobs on site,

Cosworth Group Holdings CEA, Hal Reisiger, announcing plans for a centre of excellence at the Northampton Alive conference at the Guildhall.

the facility is also expected to support 200 jobs indirectly through supply chains.

Work is expected to start early in the new year, and the centre is due to open in June 2014. It should be running at full capacity by June 2015.

Mr Costin, who is no longer involved with the firm, said: "It is a positive development for the town and for the region."

"People always asked me if I was most proud of all the race wins, but the best thing was keeping 400 local people employed for 24 years."

Hal Reisiger, CEO of Cosworth Group Holdings Ltd, announced the company's plans to politicians and business leaders at the Guildhall, as part of the bi-annual Northampton Alive event.

Cosworth is due to make a further announcement on the plans next month. The firm is soon to drop out of Formula One motorsport as an engine manufacturer, with the move to V6 technology next season.

Store 'sorry' after choking

A mum is appealing to find a mystery woman who saved her son's life after he choked on a boiled sweet, handed out by staff at a supermarket.

Six-year-old Charlie Phipps, from Timken, was helping his mother, Rebecca, do the shopping at Waitrose in Daventry on Saturday, September 28 when store staff gave him a hard-boiled sweet.

The boy started to choke before a member of public stepped in to save him. Waitrose has since admitted it had made an 'error of judgement' in giving him a sweet.

Mrs Phipps said: "It was around 11.30am and we were walking around the store. All of a sudden, in the chiller aisle, Charlie started to choke."

"I didn't know what was going on because I hadn't realised he'd been given a sweet and his face turned from red to white."

"He just couldn't breathe, it was horrific," Mrs Phipps added.

Mrs Phipps was in a state of panic when a member of the public, who said she ran a playgroup, began to help young Charlie.

She said: "A lady came out of nowhere and took charge. She told me not to worry and that she would sort it."

"She took complete control and told me how to hold Charlie's head to dislodge the sweet."

"She managed to remove it so that he could breathe again, but if it hadn't been for her I don't know what would have happened.

Rebecca Phipps with her son, Charlie, who choked after being given a sweet at a supermarket.

"She saved his life without question. I am so grateful," she added.

Mrs Phipps said when her son was choking she did not take in anything the mystery lady said, including her name.

She would now like to contact her so that she and Charlie can say thank you personally for her actions. Waitrose would also like to present her with a bottle of champagne.

Waitrose department manager, Stephen Walker, said: "We're very sorry this happened. We've spoken to Charlie's mother to apologise personally."

"Handing out boiled sweets was an error of judgment and we've taken action to make absolutely sure this won't happen again," Mr Walker added.

If you are the lady who helped Charlie please contact the Chronicle & Echo newsdesk on 01604 467032 or email editor@northantsnews.co.uk so you can be put in touch with the Phipps family.

Parents back drivers change

The parents of a teenage girl, who died in a car crash in 2008, have welcomed a move to bring in a graduated driving licence for young drivers.

Beccy Taylor died in a crash between Blisworth and Milton Malsor in 2008.

This week, her parents, Chris and Nicole, were due to meet Transport Minister Stephen Hammond to lend their support to the new plan.

Under the proposal, to be published in a Green Paper, ministers recommend a one-year "learner stage" beginning at 17, when drivers would have to undergo 100 hours of daytime and 20 hours of night-time practice under supervision. Learners would take their test at 18 and, if they pass, would get a probationary licence.

Nicole said: "We often

Beccy Taylor died in a car crash in 2008. Her parents are backing changes to law for new drivers.

think about what we could have done to equip Beccy more fully. She was a good driver, but inexperienced.

"She had a two-hour lesson and drove the family car several hours every week for eight months and since passing her test had been driving nearly every day for six months. The Graduated Driving Licence (GDL) would protect young, newly-qualified drivers as it tackles many of the common causes of young road deaths."

The pair, who live in Collingtree, maintain the probe into Beccy's death was poor.

Nicole added: "We feel we have been failed by the justice system.

"These failings mean that lessons are not learned.

"To reduce road deaths there has to be an effective investigation and common themes need to be identified and actions taken.

"The evidence on the benefits of GDL is so strong we cannot understand why it has not been acted upon."

Retail plan for gas tower site

National Grid has revealed it would like part of the old Northampton gasworks site to be developed as shops once it is cleared.

A regeneration scheme at the site, off St Peter's Way, will see the demolition of a number of buildings, along with the two landmark gas towers.

This work has already started on the towers and, once completed, environmental work will take place on the site to determine if any clearing up is needed before the site is made available for development.

This work is due to be completed by July 2014 and National Grid said it had already submitted a planning application seeking permission for part of the site to be used for retail.

The area earmarked for retail is in Towcester Road, next to the B&Q store.

Scott Lewis, joint venture manager for National Grid, said: "This application on the southern gasholder is another step towards a brighter future

An artist's impression of how the retail development at Northampton Gasworks could look for this area.

"This retail application for the south of the site will help unlock more jobs and benefits for the community. Once we have more details about the format of the application, we will share this with the community."

The demolition of the gas holders is now under way. The frames are being secured with a crane and dismantled with a heat torch. They will then be broken up and recycled.

Risky teens 'need to learn to be parents'

Vulnerable young people need to be targeted before they become parents to prevent a cycle of child neglect, according to the chair of Northamptonshire's children's safeguarding board.

Kevin Crompton was speaking in the wake of the serious case review into the death of Maisie Harrison (not her real name), a baby from Northamptonshire who died of suspected sudden infant death syndrome but who had been neglected through all four weeks of her life.

The review said her 18-year-old mum was violent, abused drugs and alcohol and was having sex with older men from the age of 14.

The report says this was picked up at school but not followed up on.

Kevin Crompton said: "The mother herself was an extremely troubled teenager and you get this cycle.

"There's a pattern in social care cases that goes from generation to generation.

"It's about how can we persuade people with these lifestyles not to have children unless they can look after the child.

"I think to break that cycle of depravation, for want of a better word, we need to pick people up before they get into crisis, to get them off drugs, get them off alcohol to teach them parenting skills to get them into work.

"If we invest in early support services, which is what Northamptonshire County Council is now doing, we can prevent some of these cases.

"It's going to need a bit more investment than we are seeing at the moment."

Unit without tenant 'shows confidence'

A huge industrial unit will be built in Northampton without any definite tenants, which developers say shows how confident builders are in the town's economy.

The speculative distribution or industrial unit will be built at Brackmills industrial estate and will measure 110,000 sq ft. Developers Hamdon Gate said the unit would be one of the few speculative buildings available in the country for tenants to occupy.

Matt Evans said: "What I believe this shows is a great confidence in Northampton as an economy."

"In our experience, developments, particularly of this scale, are very rarely begun without a tenant secured."

"We believe demand is so high on Brackmills that finding a suitable business will not be a problem and are prepared to go ahead without that in place in order to make quick progress."

An artist's impression of the new industrial unit that is being built at Brackmills.

The speculative building is a stand-alone distribution or manufacturing unit.

Construction has now begun and the building will be available in the spring of 2014 on either a new lease or a period to be agreed.

The building was purchased from Roxhill Developments, which is also constructing the adjoining 200,000 sq ft facility for transport firm, Dachser.

A total of 15 new businesses have moved to Brackmills in the last year and sports retailer, Decathlon, is set to open its first UK distribution centre there this month, in the former Tesco unit.

Sara Homer, chairman of the Brackmills BID executive board, said: "We look forward to welcoming new businesses into this new unit, which frees up neighbouring units for other businesses seeking to expand on the estate."

"Our new residents will join our thriving Business Improvement District (BID)," she added.

ROAD TEST: SUBARU FORESTER 2.0I XE PREMIUM LINEARTRONIC

By IAN DONALDSON
Motoring Writer
editor@northantsnews.co.uk

Sitting stationary in a line of M25 traffic as jumbo jets roar overhead into Heathrow may not be the best time to judge a car.

But think about it; all this going nowhere puts you in a mood glum enough to take a dim view of everything, down to the tiniest detail.

The Subaru Forester

proved a near ideal vehicle for going nowhere at the pace of a dithering snail. Top virtue was automatic transmission, letting you rest your left foot while cars all around gently kangarooed as bored drivers slipped clutches when the next tiny gap appeared.

Sitting up high was another positive. Then there was a sunroof the size of a small swimming pool. Add in a seat that lacks lumbar adjustment, but is so right anyway it doesn't need it, and you have a car that's strangely impressive at a standstill, even with a cockpit that may be well built, but wins no prizes for design flair.

There's not much to shout about outside, either. But Subaru has won its reputation on a mix of toughness and speed.

I managed better than 40mpg on the dash display on this petrol model. And add in the pleasant quietness of the petrol over the (almost) inevitable extra aural intrusion of a diesel and the test car makes an arguable case for itself.

Obituaries

BAZELEY George

Pauline and family would like to thank everyone who sent cards, messages, flowers and donations, when George passed away.

Also to everyone who attended the funeral.

My thanks to B. Hollowell & Son for all their help and care at this sad time.

Special thanks to Reverend I Lowell for a beautiful service and to Cliftonville Care

Home for their kindness to us both.

Those we love
remain with us for love itself lives on,
and cherished
memories never fade
because a loved one's gone.

Those we love can never be more than a thought apart,
for as long as there is memory, they'll live on in the heart.

KEENAN Frank

After a long illness passed away
Sunday 13th October aged 74
Dear Husband of Ellen Loving Father of Frankie & Rita
Father-in-law of Steve & Tina Kind Grandad of Ryan, Steven,
Ashley, Michael & Shaun
Will be sadly missed by all.
Frank will be received into the

MORLEY Annette Aged 52

On the 8th October 2013 Annette Morley became an Angel Gone yet not forgotten
although we are apart your spirit lives within us and you will be forever in our hearts
We will miss you everyday
If love could have saved you you would have lived forever

MORLEY Annette

As my first lady of 9047 you made me the proudest W.M in the world
I have and will always love you with all that I have to give, then, now and forever
Your legacy lives on, more than you will ever know
I am so honoured to have my lady back

You're Husband - September 9th 1979

GENERAL VACANCIES

Helping to protect the country

At HMGCC we design and develop leading-edge communication systems to support the UK's interests at home and overseas. We produce unique, advanced technological solutions to protect our nation's security. HMGCC is a well equipped, leading edge facility that utilises broad technical expertise including electrical, mechanical and production methodologies to deliver bespoke solutions for a varied range of projects.

Senior Project Manager

£32,600 – £41,300 plus excellent benefits

You should have a demonstrable track record in project management of large and small engineering projects with proven leadership and stakeholder relationship skills. You will take the lead on a number of large technical projects and should be experienced in all aspects of project management including planning, scheduling, reporting and implementation. You will also undertake performance reviews and be a confident negotiator, capable of engaging with suppliers and contractors. A recognised PM qualification is highly desirable as well as a thorough understanding of the techniques and tools required within a hardware or software environment.

Project Manager

£28,000 – £32,600 plus excellent benefits

A good all round knowledge of project management is required with the ability to lead technical teams within an electronics hardware/software engineering environment. You will undertake risk assessments, review performance, lead on planning and scheduling and ensure all projects are delivering to timescales and budget. Good communication and planning skills are key requirements along with a strategic, organised mind-set to meet project deadlines and objectives. Previous experience in a similar environment is required along with an enthusiastic approach.

Graduate Trainee Project Manager

£25,000 plus excellent benefits

You should be qualified with an engineering, science or business degree (or equivalent) with experience of a project that will demonstrate your understanding of the principle techniques required to complete projects in an electrical/software engineering environment. You will have the support of a Senior Project Manager to develop your Project Management skills to take the lead on planning, scheduling and reporting. This is a superb opportunity for an enthusiastic person who is keen to develop a career in Project Management and can show a positive attitude and flexible approach to the role.

Project Support Officer

£20,700 – £26,500 plus excellent benefits

Working as part of a support team, you will assist Project Managers to ensure that projects are delivered within planned timescale and resource budgets, and review progress against targets, reporting back to the Project Manager on developments along with any issues to be resolved. You will have excellent communication skills along with the ability to prioritise work and deliver to deadlines. MS Project and Excel skills, report writing and a motivated approach are also key requirements for this position.

We are able to offer our employees a superb working environment with benefits that reflect our desire to invest in our people, including on-site facilities that include a restaurant, sports facilities, nursery and baby unit, as well as a number of social societies and clubs. In addition, we offer excellent holiday entitlement and career development opportunities.

If you would like to be part of a unique organisation that really makes a difference, then please visit our website for full details of the above roles and information about working at HMGCC.

To apply, please complete our online application form at www.hmgcc.gov.uk

Keogh sets sights

ROBKEOGH has set his sights on a starting place in all three formats next season.

The Northants middle order batsman, who was out of contract in September, signed a new two-year deal last week to become the latest of the younger brigade to commit their immediate future to the club.

And having come of age at the tail end of the last campaign with a handful of eye-catching performances, Keogh has given himself a straightforward target for 2014.

"I want to start in all three formats and I'll work hard in the winter to try and make sure that happens," he said.

"I'm very pleased to have signed a new contract and it's nice to have a bit more security rather than being on another one-year deal but it won't change the way I approach my cricket."

And Keogh admitted that he had no intention of moving to ply his trade elsewhere, preferring to continue his lengthy relationship with the County.

He added: "I've been at the club since I was 14, it's the place that I want to play and I didn't even think about moving."

"I get on well with all the players and the coaches and I want to do well here."

As for this winter, Keogh is of the mind to stay put rather than venture abroad.

He said: "My main plan is to stay in Northampton and work on my fitness and my game but I might pop out somewhere if the chance comes."

"I'm not entirely sure but I'll probably be staying at home."

Kahn gets chance as Dickson rested

Jim Mallinder is ready to give Kahn Fotuali'i a chance to shine for Saints with Lee Dickson set to be rested for Saturday's game against Saracens.

Dickson could yet be retained by England as they prepare for the upcoming QBE Internationals, which begin on November 2.

But if he is sent back to Saints, he is unlikely to start in the crunch Aviva Premiership clash with Sarries as Fotuali'i gets set for some game time.

The Samoan has started just two matches for Northampton since his summer move from Ospreys but has figured regularly from the bench.

But Mallinder is now ready to throw Fotuali'i the No.9 shirt from the off as Dickson, who has yet to lose a game he has started for Saints this season, gets a well-earned rest.

"It was a tough decision as to who to pick (last weekend), but Lee Dickson is playing on top of his game," said Mallinder after his side's win against Ospreys on Sunday.

"I think he (Dickson) will be one who will be rested next week so Kahn will be playing for the next couple of weeks."

Another man set to be back in Mallinder's thinking for Saturday is Sam Dickinson, who was given last weekend off.

The big No.8 was named Saints player of the month for September and it was felt he needed a break after such a whirlwind start to the season.

"He's had a good five or six weeks has Sam Dickinson and it was time to have a breather," said Mallinder.

"He'll come back into the mix next week."

Meanwhile, Mallinder labelled Courtney Lawes 'the complete player' after the lofty lock played a starring role in Saints' 27-16 win over Ospreys.

"Courtney was sensational, not just in his restarts but in his defence," said the Saints boss. "He's consistently making big tackles."

"He was sort of in and out of games in the past but now he's the complete player for the full game."
